

Quick Facts

- Early American Newspapers, Series 6 presents more than 160 historical American newspapers
- Expanded coverage from from every region of the United States
- Newspapers of special historical significance, regional weeklies and big-city dailies
- Based on authoritative bibliographies from Clarence S. Brigham, Winifred Gregory and others
- Digitized from the holdings of the American Antiquarian Society, Kansas Historical Society, the Library of Congress, Wisconsin Historical Society and other institutions
- Easily view, magnify, print and save digital facsimiles
- Shares a common interface with all other America's Historical Newspapers series
- Cross-searchable with all Archive of Americana® collections

Expanded coverage from every region of the United States

Early American Newspapers, Series 6 includes more than 160 significant 18th-, 19th- and 20th-century newspapers, including titles of unique historical significance, regional weeklies and big-city dailies. Drawing from the acclaimed newspaper collections of the American Antiquarian Society, Kansas Historical Society, the Library of Congress, Wisconsin Historical Society and other institutions, Series 6 further supplements the preceding series, resulting in enhanced research opportunities and more complete coverage of American history, culture and daily life.

Newspapers of special significance

Series 6 includes many new titles of singular importance, including the Detroit Plaindealer, Detroit's first successful black newspaper; The Colored American, which provided detailed coverage of the Amistad revolt; the Argus of Western America, an early Kentucky paper and a strong supporter of Andrew Jackson; and the Arkansas Gazette, one of the first papers west of the Mississippi. Other significant titles include the Kalamazoo Gazette, Kansas City Times, Northern Standard, Oregon State Journal and many more.

Extended coverage of essential titles

Series 6 also features substantial new runs of important titles found in previous series but previously unavailable. These include the National Intelligencer, the leading newspaper of the capital; the Massachusetts Spy, co-founded by Isaiah Thomas, one of the most successful and colorful journalists of the 18th century; the Charleston Courier, predecessor to the oldest daily newspaper in the South; and the Enquirer, Richmond's enormously influential weekly.

Superior bibliographic control

Like previous series of Early American Newspapers, Series 6 offers many significant titles listed in Clarence S. Brigham's "History and Bibliography of American Newspapers, 1690-1820." Bibliographic control for post-1820 titles in Series 6 comes from Winifred Gregory's "American Newspapers 1821-1936." A distinguished academic advisory board of librarians, curators and historians supervised the title selection process, considering the historical significance of each newspaper and the diverse political positions of the period.

An Archive of Americana® collection

As part of America's Historical Newspapers, Early American Newspapers, Series 6 shares a common interface with all other newspaper series from Readex. Additionally, all America's Historical Newspapers series are cross-searchable with all other Archive of Americana® collections.

For more information or to arrange a product trial, contact Readex at 800.762.8182 or sales@readex.com.