

Quick Facts

- Early American Newspapers, Series 9 features important, long-running titles with extraordinary depth of coverage
- 19th-century titles chronicle the Jacksonian Era, the war with Mexico and Western expansion, the Civil War and Reconstruction
- Expands the political, geographical and chronological depth of Early American Newspapers
- Delivers previously unavailable coverage of titles in earlier series
- Shares a common interface with all other America's Historical Newspapers series
- Easily view, magnify, print and save digital facsimiles

Expanded coverage from across the United States

Early American Newspapers, Series 9 features full runs through 1922 of important, long-running titles from diverse regions of the U.S. Each is notable for its depth of 19th- and early 20th-century news coverage, as exemplified by the large number of pages in every issue. Also in Series 9 are significant 19th-century newspapers which chronicle the Jacksonian Era, the war with Mexico and Western expansion, the Civil War and Reconstruction. Together, the titles in Series 9 further expand the political, geographical and chronological depth of Early American Newspapers.

Long-running titles from across the nation

Series 9 includes major titles of singular importance, including The Boston Herald, one of America's top three papers in circulation in the 1870s; Bay City Times, which captures dramatic changes in Michigan as the automobile industry created a massive influx of immigrant workers and the American labor movement divided the state; and Marietta Journal, a key newspaper capturing the challenges facing the South at the turn of the century.

Also here are the Richmond Times-Dispatch, the newspaper of record for the capital of Virginia; predecessors of the Rockford Register Star, one of the oldest and largest papers in Illinois; predecessors of the San Diego Union-Tribune, this city's longest-running and most important newspaper; and the Tampa Tribune, one of Florida's oldest and most significant publications.

Essential 19th-century titles

Series 9 also provides five newspapers spanning critical 19th-century eras. These titles include the Auburn Daily Bulletin, one of the most highly regarded dailies in northwestern New York; Boston Traveler and Daily Evening Traveler, daily and weekly versions of this prominent competitor to The Boston Herald; Cape Ann Light and Gloucester Telegraph, from one of New England's oldest ship-building and fishing centers; New York's Daily Graphic, featuring lavish illustrations of contemporary news events and notable personalities; and Newark Daily Advertiser, a widely respected daily that become the Newark Star-Ledger, the largest paper in New Jersey.

Superior bibliographic control

Bibliographic control for Series 9 comes from Winifred Gregory's "American Newspapers, 1821-1936" as well as by records from the Library of Congress. A distinguished academic advisory board of librarians, curators and historians supervised the title selection process, considering the historical significance of each newspaper and the diverse political positions of the period.

An Archive of Americana® collection

As part of America's Historical Newspapers, Early American Newspapers, Series 9 shares a common interface with all other newspaper series from Readex. Additionally, all America's Historical Newspapers series are cross-searchable with all other Archive of Americana® collections.

For more information or to arrange a product trial, contact Readex at 800.762.8182 or sales@readex.com.