

FORTUNE'S FAVORS.—FATE'S DECREE.

- 1.—You will marry a person very rich, but very homely. Make him use the Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher to improve his appearance.
- 2.—You are morbid now: the absent will return and you will change your mind. Meantime use the Ideal Felt Polisher on your teeth—they need it.
- 3.—Indicates loss of friends—bad luck at law, at love and in money matters, and loss of teeth, unless you use the Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher.
- 4.—You have extravagant notions; moderate your desires and they will be granted, but guard well your fortune lest it take wings.
- 5.—Very good fortune; sudden prosperity; a letter bringing good news and a package by mail from the Horsey M'f'g Co., of Utica, N. Y.
- 6.—Your teeth offend your lover. Brighten them with an Ideal Felt Polisher and be irresistible.
- 7.—You will have a little "brush" with your lover—it will be an Ideal, though, which will be felt in your favor.
- 8.—Afraid to ask. Why? She awaits thee.
- 9.—A red-headed wife. Eleven children. An easy fortune. A lazy life.
- 10.—Because of your money he is afraid to propose, and because of his poverty you are arrogant with him, yet you both love. Bear and forbear.
- 11.—Ambition and bristles are your enemies. Drop them. Your existence will then be Ideal.
- 12.—You are incapable of love, because you expect too much. Remember that you are not perfection. The Ideal Felt Polisher will improve you.
- 13.—You smoke—your teeth are discolored—you use bristles. Smoke on, but use the Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher. A fortune awaits you if you do.
- 14.—You have a rich and generous nature governed by a head of brains. You love and are loved. Be happy.
- 15.—You are Politeness itself. Politeness is Ideal—Politeness is always Felt—Politeness is a Polisher; ergo, Politeness is an Ideal, Felt, Polisher, and you, being all this, cannot fail to shine in society. Thus favored, you will win friends, fortune and felicity.
- 16.—You may win in business affairs, but you cannot last in love. Too familiar on short acquaintance.
- 17.—Three marriages, seventeen children, seven sorrows and seven successes
- 18.—(Number of "Felts" in each box.) Be unselfish. If you would have happiness, halve it. Her (or his) eyes are brown, her teeth polished, her beauty, beatific, her wealth, wondrous.
- 19.—You will marry young. Your children will be handsome, healthy, happy, and you will educate them to the use of the Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher.
- 20.—Don't wait. Marry now. Long engagements lessen love, as bristles lessen teeth.
- 21.—You will "run against a snag." It will be 'twixt the lips of your love, who should lose no time in procuring an Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher.
- 22.—As twice eleven are twenty-two, Favoring fortune shall come to you.
- 23.—Jaw not that ye be not jawed, for in too much John is unhappiness for you.
- 24.—Your face is your fortune, the strength of which is in your teeth which you are wise enough to preserve by a free use of the Ideal Felt Polisher.
- 25.—You will travel much, and, late in life, settle down. Just now, you'd better settle up.
- 26.—"Evil associations corrupt good manners." Evil customs destroy the teeth. Beware! Your manners are in peril, also your teeth from using harsh bristles.
- 27.—Lucky in life, in law, in love.
- 28.—You are a "thing of beauty." but, unless you take better care of your teeth, it may not follow that you will be a "joy forever."
- 29.—Your first born will resemble you; will have measles at two, whooping cough at two-and-one-half, teeth at three. Remember to have the Ideal Felt Polisher on hand at that time, for there is nothing better for infants' teeth.
- 30.—A maid married is a maid made. You are unfinished—marry and be made.
- 31.—Fastidiousness foils fools. Be particular, but not to excess.
- 32.—You love; not too well, but wisely. Judgment is your best friend and you consult him often. It now bids you use the Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher.
- 33.—You trouble yourself too much about your future life.—Pay more attention to this, and—clean your teeth.
- 34.—You are combative; yield oftener and you will win oftener.
- 35.—Fame and Fortune fear Frivolity.
- 36.—Serene, serious, sensible, sweet; these mark the qualities of your future half, though you are the opposite. Moral: Use the "Ideal."
- 37.—You are adored more for your beauty than your brain. Cultivate the latter. The former will take care of itself if you use the "Ideal."
- 38.—"Turn the rascals out"—your feet! How can anybody love a pigeon-toed person?
- 39.—In your mouth is a wealth of eloquence and 26 unpolished pearls. The Ideal Polisher is the lapidary that can make them of value.
- 40.—Money, money, money: love, love, love: and children?—None.
- 41.—Somewhere a noble soul awaits the coming of your own. You will meet ere long and both shall then be won and one.
- 42.—Expect a quarrel with one you love, but look for many joys to follow.
- 43.—Virtues are variable; they are also, very able. Remembering this, guard well the "mouthful of teeth" that art thine, lest good health forsake thee.
- 44.—Think of another—he's a dead dude.

SIN-N

Pamp
BF
1861
134
1869

FORTUNE'S FAVORS.—FATE'S DECREE.

- 45.—You will marry a temperance lecturer whose experience with you will be drink, drank, drunk, because of your intoxicating beauty.
- 46.—Your matrimony will be a matter o' money.
- 47.—You have a secret enemy named DeKay, who is at work upon your teeth. Circumvent his designs and polish him off with "The Ideal."
- 48.—You will marry a dentist whose favorite amusement in life will be a little game of "draw," over whom it will be writ when he cometh unto his final excavation:
Look not with levity but with gravity:
A dentist's filling his last cavity.
- 49.— } Old maid.
 } Old Batch.
- 50.—Your last love's labor's lost. Try again.
- 51.—You are a twin, will wed a twin, and have many a twin. Remember The Horsey M'fg Co.'s "Twin Comforts."
- 52.—Lifeless and loveless.
- 53.—Your third marriage will be happiest.
- 54.—This is a lucky number. You will get money, get fame, and get the life partner your heart desires, if you use the Ideal.
- 55.—The teeth! "Aye, there's the rub"—or it should be there, else unhappiness will set in.
- 56.—You will have many beautiful wedding presents; among them, an Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher in a silver case.
- 57.—There are holes in your stockings. Darn them lest in your extremity you come to want.
- 58.—You are two-faced. Why don't you give this one a rest and wear the other for a time?
- 59.—Tempus Fugit!—Hurry! You are getting old.
- 60.—Whatever you engage in will be a success, especially your use of the Ideal.
- 61.—Born with a silver spoon and an Ideal Tooth Polisher in your mouth you cannot fail to prosper.
- 62.—Watch!—A crafty enemy is plotting against both your money and your teeth; banish bristles and use the Ideal.
- 63.—You will marry because you think you love, and afterward will meet one whom you would give worlds to wed. The "Ideal" will then be your only comfort.
- 64.—Your husband will drink—when thirsty; so will you.
- 65.—People will love you more when they understand you better. Look to your teeth.
- 66.—"The good die young."—You are in no immediate danger. You can look pretty, however, by using the Ideal.
- 67.—If not more careful you will, ere long, talk with a falsetto voice and a false-set-'o-teeth.
- 68.—How were the other occupants of the ark when you left?
- 69.—"Virtue hath its own reward."—There is much coming to you.
- 70.—Careful, or somebody 'll steal you.
- 71.—You are too good for earth—your home's in — Utica.
- 72.—Better get your life insured — your heart's affected; also your teeth—insure them by using the "Ideal."
- 73.—"Cleanliness is next to Godliness." This saying has special reference to the teeth.—Not to yours—but to those of your friends, to whom you should recommend the Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher.
- 74.—Your fourteenth daughter will marry her first cousin, and cause you much sorrow.
- 75.—You shall be for ever unacquainted with grief.
- 76.—You shall marry one of New York's fashionable "four hundred," and live on four hundred a-year.
- 77.—Eat less and you will live longer.
- 78.—Love in a cottage on pottage 'til your dotage.
- 79.—You will elope and be sorry. Take an Ideal with you for comfort.
- 80.—You will be saved much anxiety of mind and heart, for your parents will do all your falling in love and marrying for you. Polish your teeth.
- 81.—Three of your children will die natural deaths—the other twelve will marry.
- 82.—"Never say dye" even if your hair does turn grey, but keep on using The Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher.
- 83.—A friend from abroad will bring you good tidings.
- 84.—The chooser of this number will be unlucky at cards and all games of chance.
- 85.—Expect something from a will—a woman's.
- 86.—If you remain as frank and honest as you are now you cannot have enemies.
- 87.—Your married life will be unmarred.
- 88.—You will be your better (?) half's superior.
- 89.—You lack affection—nobody wants to marry an iceberg.
- 90.—See Chicago for divorce.
- 91.—Your life will be literary—more litter than airy.
- 92.—Go West where women are scarce.
- 93.—You run too much to dress. Your partner will be the opposite.
- 94.—Don't marry for ten years if you would be happy.
- 95.—You would die without affection.
- 96.—Never have pets unless they are human. Animal pets consume affection to the jeopardy of lovers.
- 97.—Smile more. Your teeth are beautiful.
- 98.—Keep your teeth bright and beautiful as your complexion and you will be happy.
- 99.—In twenty years you will be ready for another marriage.
- 100.—Write the Horsey M'fg Co., Utica, N. Y., for further information.