

French Band Rehearses Amid Destructive Gases

© UNDERWOOD AND UNDERWOOD

This Unusual Picture, From the Argonne District, Shows the Regimental Band Rehearsing in the Ruins of a Village. The Crown Prince Has Been Making Constant Attacks Along This Front, in Which Poison Gas Was Extensively Used. Entire Regiments Go About Constantly Masked Against the Deadly Fumes. The Village in Which the Rehearsal Occurred Suffered Great Destruction From the Bombardment of French and German Guns.

British Soldiers Wear the Latest Gas Helmet Which Has Been Issued for Their Protection in the Trenches Against Poisonous Gases With Which the German Bombs Are Filled.