LOVETT.

Laurel Smith. Plain. Antebellum Abolitionist. Women's Suffrage—she has a long and useful life, and has ever shown a zeal for the cause of the sides from the Collins and Mary's, and of the Potomac on her mother's, and through them acquainted with the leading abolitionists and renowned ancestry. Laurel Smith was born in the Island of Nantucket, January 3 1819, and was educated in the Nantucket Friends' boarding school in Dauphin county, N. Y. In that institution, when she was about five years of age, she was taught by a teacher. Three years later she married James Smith, a sailor, and moved to Philadelphia, where she has since resided.
Her husband died in 1840, leaving her a widow and two children. The family be-taining a little girl, she felt called to religious duties, and was married to another friend, without being in the least aware that she was the object of the affection of
