

Early American Newspapers, Series 2, 1758-1900: The New Republic

Early to Mid-19th Century Newspapers

Quick Facts

Early American Newspapers, Series 2 includes more than 290 historical American newspapers

Extensive coverage of the early to mid-19th century and beyond

Newspapers from every region of the United States

“Researchers...will be ecstatic about this product’s ease of use and dynamic search capabilities. The search engine is highly intuitive... Highly recommended.”

— C. W. Bruns, California State University, Fullerton, in Choice (April 2006)

Overview

Series 2 offers more than 290 significant 18th- and 19th-century newspapers from every region of the United States. Based primarily on the holdings of the American Antiquarian Society (AAS), which houses a vast collection of American newspapers through 1876, Series 2 also includes titles from the acclaimed newspaper collection of the Wisconsin Historical Society and more than 90 other institutions.

Focus on titles from the first half of the 19th century

Series 2 focuses on the period between 1820 and 1860, when the number of American newspapers rose dramatically. In the first half of the 19th century, the number of American newspapers increased from less than 200 to more than 3,000. During this time period, westward expansion and the penny press helped create thousands of local newspapers, and daily editions replaced many weeklies. In addition, the format of newspapers was transformed by an increasing emphasis on society, industry, scientific advances, investigative journalism and stories of human interest.

Superior bibliographic control

Like other Early American Newspaper series, Series 2 offers many significant titles listed in Clarence S. Brigham’s “History and Bibliography of American Newspapers, 1690-1820” and other authoritative bibliographies. Bibliographic control for post-1820 titles in Series 2 comes from Winifred Gregory’s “American Newspapers 1821-1936: A Union List of Files Available in the United States and Canada.” A distinguished academic advisory board guided the title selection process.

An Archive of Americana® collection

As part of America’s Historical Newspapers, Early American Newspapers, Series 2 shares a common interface with all other Readex newspaper series, including American Ethnic Newspapers. Additionally, all America’s Historical Newspapers series are cross-searchable with all other Archive of Americana® collections.

UNLOCK HISTORY.

For more information on this and other Readex collections, call 800.762.8182, email sales@readex.com or visit www.readex.com

Readex
A Division of NewsBank