

Early American Newspapers, Series 7, 1773-1922: Reform and Retrenchment

The Rise of the 19th-Century Independent Press

Quick Facts

Early American Newspapers, Series 7 presents more than 170 historical American newspapers

Expanded coverage from every region of the United States

Newspapers of special historical significance, regional weeklies and big-city dailies

“...rich with titles of national and local importance.... a real research gem for historians, all levels of college students....Highly recommended.”

— C. W. Bruns, California State University, Fullerton, in Choice (July 2014)

Overview

Series 7 delivers more than 170 valuable 18th-, 19th- and 20th-century newspapers from every region of the United States. Drawing from the acclaimed newspaper collections of the American Antiquarian Society, Kansas Historical Society, the Library of Congress, Wisconsin Historical Society and other institutions, Series 7 further supplements the preceding series, resulting in enhanced research opportunities and more complete coverage of American history, culture and daily life.

Newspapers of special significance

Series 7 includes many new titles of singular importance, including New Orleans' Times Picayune, established in 1837 and one of the South's most prominent newspapers, and The Oregonian, founded in 1850 in Portland and still the state's largest daily.

Also included here are the Courier de la Louisiane, a bilingual Creole title; Frederick Douglass' Paper, the successor to the influential North Star, the title that marked the beginning of a separate black press; the California Farmer and Journal of Useful Sciences, a pioneer of early natural history writing; the Charleston Mercury, a strong supporter of slavery; the Ohio Monitor, published in Columbus and one of the state's principal 19th-century newspapers; and the popular and entertaining Southern Illustrated News.

Extended coverage of essential titles

Series 7 also features substantial new runs of important titles found in previous series but unavailable earlier. These include the National Aegis, a strong supporter of Jeffersonian Republicanism; and the New York Evening Post, nationally famous under poet and abolitionist William Cullen Bryant.

Superior bibliographic control

Like previous series of Early American Newspapers, Series 7 offers many significant titles listed in Clarence S. Brigham's "History and Bibliography of American Newspapers, 1690-1820." Bibliographic control for post-1820 titles in Series 7 comes from Winifred Gregory's "American Newspapers 1821-1936." A distinguished academic advisory board guided the title selection process.

An Archive of Americana® collection

As part of America's Historical Newspapers, Early American Newspapers, Series 7 shares a common interface with all other Readex newspaper series, including American Ethnic Newspapers. Additionally, all America's Historical Newspapers series are cross-searchable with all other Archive of Americana® collections.

UNLOCK HISTORY.

For more information on this and other Readex collections, call 800.762.8182, email sales@readex.com or visit www.readex.com

Readex
A Division of NewsBank