

Lincoln Beachey in His Indoor Flight

UNDERGROUND, FLY IS BEACHEY'S DESIRE

After His Indoor Flight the Daring Aviator Expresses His Latest Wish

Special to The Inquirer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 8.—Lincoln Beachey, who has been startling the aviation world with his daring feats in looping the loop, says that "all I yearn for now is to fly underground." Beachey made this statement after having made a successful indoor flight in the palace of Machinery Hall, on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

After his indoor flight Beachey said that aviation within a closed structure was comparatively easy, as there were no treacherous winds to combat and this minimized the danger.